

Accessing Webcasts

Accessing and viewing a webcast is easy for anyone. All you need is access to the WWW to participate.

To view a webcast, access the OTN Webcasting Centre at: www.webcast.otn.ca

The OTN Webcasting Centre provides a thumb nailed list of all existing archived events both public and private. It also provides a listing of all upcoming public and private live events. You can also find upcoming live webcasts through the Learning Center by looking for the webcast icon after the event title.

For private events, either live or archived, make sure you have the User ID and Password provided by the host.

Testing Your Media Player

Prior to viewing a session, it is recommended that you verify if your computer meets minimum hardware, software and network requirements (DSL, Cable Internet, etc.) by viewing the webcasting support page - <http://webcast.otn.ca/support.html> to test your media player.

The OTN Webcasting Centre

To access public live events, click the “Public Live Events” link, or the “Events” link from the drop down menu. Then select the title of the desired presentation

To access public archived events, click the “Public Archived Events” link, or the “Events” link from the drop down menu. Then select the title of the desired presentation

To access private live events, click the “Private Live Events” link, or the “Private Events” link from the drop down menu. A login screen will appear. Enter your assigned user name and password and click the submit button. Select the desired webcast from the presentation titles provided Accessing Archived Webcasts

To access private archived events, click the “Private Archived Events” link, or the “Private Events” link from the drop down menu. A login screen will appear. Enter your assigned user name and password and click the submit button. Select the desired webcast from the presentation titles provided.